Therapeutic Choice and Pastoral Care - Internationally

... in the Judeo-Christian context

Welcome to the 11th Annual IFTCC Conference!

On behalf of the Conference Planning sub-group, we'd like to warmly welcome you to the STAYTHE COURSE event which we believe is advancing professional and pastoral counselling work. More than that, it's an opportunity to come together as we stand against the tide of progressivist ideology. We also welcome those joining us online for the conference.

Please be aware that PowerPoint presentations for the conference have been, or will be shortly uploaded at learning.iftcc.org. They are also available on the online learning hub.

Please check the programme and decide what you can comfortably attend from Friday 24 - Sunday 26 October. Give yourself time for fellowship with others, to enjoy good food, for sleep and some relaxation. Clearly it's not possible to attend every session.

Remember that all sessions are live this year and also recorded. These will be made available initially on the online platform and later on the IFTCC's learning.iftcc.org platform. If you paid the full registration fee for the conference, you will receive an access link on request (conference@iftcc.org) with which to access all the individual presentations listed on the programme.

The International Foundation for Therapeutic and Counselling Choice

THE 10 POINTS in summary

- 01 Banning 'conversion therapy' infringes human rights and freedoms, imperilling both therapeutic choice and pastoral, professional and parental rights. See paragraphs 1-6 of the Review Document.
- 02 Professional bodies promoting discriminatory monocultural viewpoints prevent ideological diversity and critique. See paragraphs 7-8 of the Review Document.
- 03 'Mostly-heterosexuals', the largest non-heterosexual minority group, are being denied therapeutic support to affirm their heterosexual aspirations. See paragraphs 9-11 of the Review Document.
- 04 Sexual fluidity happens in both directions but this is being ignored. See paragraphs 12-17 of the Review Document.
- 05 Banning 'conversion therapy' will extend 'cancel culture', silence dissent and inhibit free speech. See paragraphs 18-25 of the Review Document.
- 06 Political aspirations sacrifice much needed therapy for children and adults who feel distress about their sex. See paragraph 26 of the Review Document.
- 07 'Conversion therapy' bans are unsafe while potential causal links between trauma and same-sex attractions and 'gender dysphoria' remain unexamined. See paragraph 27 of the Review Document.
- 08 Change-allowing therapies do not actually cause 'harm' or increase suicidality according to peer-reviewed research. See paragraphs 28-31 of the Review Document.
- 09 Torture claims in 'conversion therapy' are unsubstantiated and are designed to silence dissent. See paragraphs 32-36 of the Review Document.
- 10 Church leaders conceding to unsafe 'conversion therapy' bans defame and undermine the potentially complementary roles of pastoral and professional counselling. See paragraphs 37-39 of the Review Document.

About the IFTCC

The 2025 Conference Programme contains important information about our policies and ethical statements that govern our practises in the IFTCC. These are:

1. The Guidelines for Clinicians
2. The Principles for Transgender Treatments
3. Protocol for Pastoral Care
4. Foundations of Practise
5. Principles of Practise
6. Benefits of Practise

Mission Statement

The International Foundation for Therapeutic and Counselling Choice (IFTCC) is a multi-disciplinary organisation that exists to support dedicated providers of services to individuals seeking change for their unwanted relational and sexual behaviours, attractions and patterns. It works to preserve the rights of clients to access such services, and of providers to offer services. It advocates for scientific integrity and research objectivity. Its anthropological approach is based on a Judeo-Christian understanding of the body, marriage and the family. It aspires to being guided by professional standards of association and practise, with transparent accountability. Those supporting the IFTCC include both professional and pastoral-care practitioners, educators, and legal and community leaders from around the world concerned with the promotion of sexual health.

Objects of Association

1. The promotion of the rights and freedoms for individuals to seek, to offer, and to research professional psychotherapeutic, clinical, counselling and/or pastoral support to achieve client-centred goals of reducing, managing, or where possible, overcoming unwanted relational and sexual behaviours, feelings and attractions;
2. The dissemination of accurate scientific and research information relevant to the field of practise, reflecting shared and transparent ethical premises and standards;
3. Development of an international, self-regulating educative forum, offering professional and collegial support to those providing care to individuals with unwanted relational or sexual practises and attractions;
4. The provision of continuing professional development (CPD) and basic information for those offering interventions or support to individuals with unwanted relational or sexual behaviours and attractions;
5. Encouragement of accountable practices and research initiatives, utilizing recognized standards of accuracy, duty and care among practitioners and providers;
6. Enhancement of understanding via cross- and inter-cultural competencies, and research initiatives that respect proven family-centred values.

The IFTCC Consensus Statement

The IFTCC affirms Biblical morality and the Christian faith and understands the damaging effects of homosexuality and gender incongruence on the image of God. As clinical practitioners, researchers, pastoral care workers, professionals, and lay-people, the IFTCC extends psychological and spiritual healing that strengthens and supports disciples of Christ and those from other faith backgrounds or no faith at all.

We gather to proclaim Biblical anthropology according to the teachings of Jesus Christ and affirm that-

- humanity, in the diversity of two distinct, yet complementary biological sexes, male and female, are created uniquely and intentionally to bear God's image together on earth.¹
- Christ blesses the covenant of marriage and its bodily consummation only between one man and one woman and prohibits every sexual union outside this marital covenant.² Therefore, by this teaching.
- chastity outside marriage validates the dignity of the human body and celibacy is a unique spiritual gift of dedication to God only as it aligns with Biblical anthropology.³
- the Biblical mandate for Christian leaders reflects this anthropology.⁴
- that sexuality, marriage, and the family it creates are essential elements of God's command to be fruitful and multiply but have been corrupted and distorted by sin.⁵ Therefore, the Christian faith offers to all people Christ's healing, restoration, and reconciliation to glorify God and declare the hope of Christ's coming kingdom.

¹ Matthew 19:4; Genesis 1:27, 5:2

² Matthew 5:27-30, 32; 19:5-6; Mark 10:1-12; Luke 16:18; Genesis 2:24; Ephesians 5: 31; 1 Cor 6:16

³ 1 Corinthians 6:17-7:40; Matthew 19:10-12

⁴ 1 Timothy 3:1-13; Titus 1:6-9

⁵ Genesis 1:28, Romans 3:9, 19, 23; Romans 11:32; Galatians 3:22

X-Out-Loud is a European Christian movement made up of men and women who have left LGBT identities and now share their personal stories of transformation through faith in Jesus Christ. Our mission is to give voice to people who have experienced change, to break the silence and stigma around leaving LGBT lifestyles, and to challenge the cultural narrative that change is impossible.

We engage through public speaking, media appearances, worship gatherings, and online platforms, offering hope and support to individuals seeking freedom in their sexual identity. We also work to equip churches and Christian communities to respond with both truth and compassion. Our team includes people from different nations, creating a united front to inspire and encourage others across Europe and beyond. Our core message centres on identity in Christ, personal testimony, and the power of the Gospel to transform lives.

UPDATE ON THE IFTCC CERTIFICATE PROGRAMME

We are pleased to report ongoing progress in developing the IFTCC Certificate Programme and are grateful for funding that has allowed this.

Project goal

Create a comprehensive Certification Program based on the IFTCC's Competency Framework to address the needs of professional and pastoral care practitioners, educators, and community leaders globally

Our commitment

We're aiming to launch comprehensive certificate programs covering the Clinical, Pastoral, and Research areas, each at Basic, Intermediate, and Advanced levels.

Who can benefit?

- professionals seeking Continuing Education Credits (CEUs).
- lay persons aiming to upskill in this area.
- those seeking IFTCC membership.
